Request for Expression of Interest Skilling Construction Labour

Habitat for Humanity's Terwilliger Center for Innovation in Shelter focuses on expanding access to affordable housing, by collaborating with housing and construction-related companies to offer solutions that meet the needs of about 441 million people who live in inadequate housing in India. We measure our success by the growth of our partners and expansion of their products & services to better serve the affordable housing markets.

Construction labour play a crucial role in building durable houses and providing advice to low income households. However, they may not be fully equipped with appropriate technical knowledge and up-to-date skills, which can lead to poor quality construction.

Training and upskilling of construction labour can lead to improved work performance and more resilient homes.

The Terwilliger Center invites organizations from the construction industry and training ecosystem to submit an expression of interest, to receive financial & technical support towards strategic initiatives that address these needs.

The opportunity to apply is open to organizations across the construction industry, including material and equipment manufacturers, construction companies, associations, agencies, training institutes and NGOs.

The Terwilliger Center for Innovation in Shelter offers:

Financial & technical support	Expertise on low income housing issues	Findings from ongoing research on labour practices	Global best practices
-------------------------------	--	--	-----------------------

Interested organizations may send an 'Expression of Interest' along with a short profile to: TCIS-India@habitat.org

Deadline for first round of selection is February 28, 2019, but applications are accepted on a rolling basis until April 15, 2019.
